

Trains & safety: Tips for passengers

The Railway Police are engaged in protecting passengers and ensuring their safety and security every day: they control 16,000 km of tracks, and 212 railway stations. About 600 railway police patrols are employed on board trains and in stations daily. Also this year, our Railway Police provide some tips on how to travel safely in a video clip and a brochure that summarizes key recommendations.

Italian version

04/07/2011